“ The community needs a place where parolees can check in daily and receive training in life skills and other education. The goal is to help them change their lives, become productive citizens and not re-offend.

- Sheriff Bill Brown, Santa Barbara County

Cognitive behavioral and motivational interviewing techniques are used throughout CSI programs.

Alternative programs cut crime, cut costs and build communities.

Cut Crime

Research on state recidivism rates has shown that by placing appropriate offenders in community programs under supervision reduces the potential for revocation and return to incarceration. By supporting this return to law abiding behavior, recidivism is reduced and public safety is enhanced.

Cut Costs

Effective reentry policies save money and make better use of limited resources by establishing a more coordinated and comprehensive continuum of care and supervision. Even small reductions in recidivism rates will generate substantial cost-savings by avoiding more costly incarceration. DRC programs operate at a fraction of the cost of a prison bed.

Build Communities

CSI is committed to strengthening the connection between community and individuals. DRC programs allow clients to reenter the workforce, to be parents, and to play a role in strengthening their families and neighborhoods.
